Map Shows Route Of Proposed Bypass North Of City

State Highway Department approval is being awaited on the Baker Engineers' draft of a highway bypass immediately north of Salem, designed to take transient traffic away from the downtown district.

Maps received by Council President Curtis H. Vaughan today showed the bypass' projected path around the city to the north. The bypass skirts the outer edge of Salem and does not touch new residential allotments as was first feared. In fact, the bypass will lie entirely beyond the corporate limits, but yet close enough for convenient access.

The Baker Engineers of Rochester, Pa., who are completing a master traffic plan are comprehensive survey for City Council, have submitted detailed plans to Council and the State Highway Department. Ninety-two per cent of the master plan is now complete, the Baker Engineers told Mayor Dean Cranmer.

The map above (sketched from the original submitted to Council) shows where the north bypass will go to accommodate Routes 62 and 14 traffic which would be diverted from the heart of the city. Dotted lines are Salem corporation limits.

The bypass will begin at a junction with the Damascus Road about a half-mile west of the city and swing northward, according to the engineers' map. Before circling to the north, a cloverleaf intersection will connect with a highway bringing in Route 14 from the Benton Road. Similar intersections are planned at the bypass' junction with the Ellsworth Road (Route 45) and the Albany Road (Route 62).

The bypass would cut across Ellsworth Road near the Polo Field and across the Albany Road near the skating rink drive, as near as and across the Albany Road near the skating rink drive, the bypass can be ascertained from the map. Continuing eastward, the bypass would swing down gradually and connect with the bottom of the Millville Hill east of the city.

The state highway department has already expressed satisfaction over such a route.

Rev. John Bauman Retiring From Ministry On Sept. 1

Rev. John Bauman is retiring as pastor of the Emmanuel Lutheran Church after 23 years as minister there. He is also retiring from the active ministry, effective Sept. 1.

The Emmanuel Lutheran congregation will gather for a special meeting Sunday afternoon at 2:30 to hear suggestions of ministerial candidates to take over the church's pastoral duties.

Dr. Harold Osterman, president of the eastern district of the American Lutheran Church, will preside over the meeting.

During his 23 years of tenure here, Rev. Bauman has seen the Emmanuel Lutheran attendance rise from 78 persons in 1933 to 416 persons during the first six months of this year. The congregation is also considering construction of an education unit to the present building or building a new church on a different site.

Rev. Bauman also has been instrumental in introducing the first Christmas Eve midnight candlelight service to the city, the first Protestant robed choir to Salem, and the first Easter sunrise service.

A native of Portland, Ore., Rev. Bauman was graduated from Portland High School. As a youth he studied architecture but later decided to enter the ministry.

After studying at the Spokane College in Washington, he completed his theological training at the theological seminary at Capital University in Columbus. He was ordained in June, 1921.

Rev. Bauman's first ministerial charge was a mission church at East Pittsburgh, Pa., where he de-

Driver Fined, Jailed For Drunken Driving

LISBON — Hughes M. Cook of Akron was fined $100 and costs and given three days in jail at a hearing in Mayor Wilbur Warren's court Monday evening for driving while intoxicated.

Three other drivers forfeited $15 bonds when they failed to appear on speeding charges. Forfeiting bonds were Joseph Puhalla, Everett D. Bledsoe and Victor Orban, all of Cleveland.

All were arrested by village police.

Lisbon Pool Shows $600 Profit In Month

LISBON — A report to village council on the new Sadie VanFossan Swimming Pool showed a profit of $600 for the first four weeks of operation. The report showed $2,300 taken in and a total of $1,700 spent on pool operation.

Council authorized the removing of a curb on Nelson Ave., from E. Chestnut St. south about 150 feet in front of the Cosma Farm Implement Co. and the Hillier IGA Food-liner.

The space will be blacktopped and used for parking for the Food-liner.

A parking meter will be installed in front of the Donley Radio and Television Shop on W. Lincoln Way, council agreed.

Atty. Richard Kennedy requested a street light be placed in the North Park Place allotment in the northwest section of the village. He advised council that he is moving into that section in about three weeks as the first resident there and desires to have a street light there.

The mayor referred the matter to the council street light committee.

Girl, 9, Killed, 5 Others In Family Injured

Hurt When Father's Car Leaves Rt. 18 And Strikes Pole

A nine-year-old Youngstown girl was killed and her parents, two sisters and a brother were seriously injured in a one-car accident on Rt. 18, one-half mile west of Youngstown, at 8:15 p.m., Monday. Dorothy Dickson died at Youngstown Southside Hospital at 2:30 a.m. today of a skull fracture and internal injuries.

According to the State Highway Patrol, the girl was fatally injured when the car in which she was riding, driven by her father Frank Dickson, 35, went off the left side of the highway and smashed into a utility pole. The car was demolished.

Injured in the mishap were: The driver, lacerations of the face and head.

His wife, Elizabeth, 34, possible fractured skull, fractures of both legs and lacerations of the scalp.

A daughter, Janet, 4, possible fractured cheek bone and internal injuries.

A daughter, Rose Marie, 2, possible skull fracture.

A son, Frank, Jr., six weeks old, head injury.

All were reported to be in fair condition at Youngstown Southside Hospital.

Car Truck Crash Near Lisbon

One man was seriously injured in a car-truck collision on Rt. 30, four and one-half miles south of Lisbon, at 2:05 p.m. Monday.

According to the highway patrol, a car driven by Kenneth Wilson, 34 of Cortland, Md., sideswiped a truck it was attempting to pass, went off the left side of the road into a ditch and overturned.

The driver was partially thrown out of the car and pinned under the wreckage. Wilson was reported to be in fair condition at Salem City Hospital with possible back injuries.

The truck, driven by Jack Watson, 22 of Lisbon, received only minor damage. The automobile was demolished.

Stevenson Has 400 Delegate Votes In Democratic States

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J. (AP)—Adlai Stevenson appears likely to collect more than 400 overpowering presidential nominating votes from the 27 Democratic-controlled states represented at the 48th annual Governors Conference.

On the basis of an Associated Press survey of opinion of the governors or their representatives from those states which have Democratic chief executives, Stevenson has only to break even in 21 GOP-dominated states to win an early ballot at the Aug. 13 Chicago convention.

Strength Disclosed
The strong reservoir of Stevenson support was disclosed despite what appeared to be an upsurge in the strength of Gov. Averell Harriman to New York in the wake of the practical demise of Sen. Estes Kefauver of Tennessee as a challenging candidate.

Harriman harvested the prospect of gaining the backing of Kentucky's 30 votes—if Gov. A. B. (Happy) Chandler can win control of them and make some sort of agreement with the New York governor. Harriman said today no such agreement had been reached.

In addition, if he got Kentucky, Harriman would have most of New York's 98 votes, Oklahoma's 28 and what Gov. Raymond Gary of Oklahoma predicted would be 85 more from Republican-controlled Western states.

Harriman Strong Contender
All of this made Harriman a strong contender for a nomination which will go to the first Democrat who accumulates 686½ votes on any ballot at the convention. The latest Associated Press tab-

Reds Say Craft Flies Faster Than Sound

American, British Air Officers Tour Secret Academy

MOSCOW (AP)—Gen. Nathan Twining, U.S. Air Force chief of staff, has been given a look at a new Soviet bomber the Russians say can fly faster than sound.

The U.S. Air Force does not yet have such a supersonic bomber. The speed of sound varies from 760 miles an hour at sea level to about 663 miles an hour at altitudes above 35,000 feet.

The top U.S. airman, a group of his aides and British, French and other foreign military men were shown the new plane during a conducted tour of the closely guarded Kubinka air base, about 40 miles from Moscow.

Tour Secret Base
Today the American and British air office toured another secret Soviet installation in the Moscow area—the Zhukovskiy Air Engineering Academy.

Little was known of this academy. Some sources said it was an aeronautics laboratory. Others said they believed it was merely an engineering school for air officers. Reporters and photographers who tried to accompany the party were barred.

The same thing happened Monday, when the visitors went to Kubinka Air Base.

Reporters who tried to trail the foreign visitors were halted 20 miles outside Moscow.

Twining said later the new craft was a twin-engine, light attack bomber.

The foreign military men, who were invited here to see Russia's latest aviation achievements, were told the new bomber had never been shown before.

The visiting officers toured the base in jeeps, making only one stop while viewing more than 100 planes.

Twining Studies Plane

The stop came when Twining was invited by Air Marshal Pavel Zhigarev, Soviet air force chief, and Marshal Sergei Rudenko, Soviet air force chief of staff, to make a close inspection of the new TU104 jet transport. The U.S. officer was the only member of the party invited to enter the plane.

Twining said Soviet pilots demonstrated their skills for the visitors, taking off in MIG17s in formations of five, then circling and

Jaycees To Install Officers Thursday

Richard Speidel will be guest speaker and installing officer at the Junior Chamber of Commerce installation dinner at the Valley Golf Club in Columbiana, Thursday at 6 p.m.

Speidel, vice president of the Farmers National Bank, is a charter member of the Salem Jaycees and was vice president of the original group here.

Officers to be installed are: George Equizi, president; Jack Rance, first vice president; Russ Wagner, second vice president; Fred Koenreth, secretary and Walt Taylor and Norman Eckfield, directors.

A dance, with music provided by Vic Guappone's band, will follow the dinner. All charter members of the Jaycees are invited to the installation.

300 Children Sign For Swimming Classes

Approximately 300 children have registered for the first session of the intermediate and beginners free swimming instruction, according to Lee Burton, director of parks and recreation.

Burton said that registration has been closed in the present classes but other classes will begin in about three weeks. Adults may register for beginners classes next Monday.

Approximately 1,600 potted plants were given to city children Monday. In the closing days of the summer playground program, a flower show will be held for children with prizes awarded for the best plants.

The free Wednesday night films, to be shown at the Buckeye School playground, will feature: Walt Disney's "Cartoon Parade," "America or Me" and "Mickey's Miracle." The movies will begin at dark and will be shown for about one and one-half hours.

Deadline Is July 15 For Oiling City Streets

Service Director James Feiler today reminded city residents that July 15 is the deadline for the oiling of unpaved streets.

Residents desiring their streets to be oiled should bring a petition and four cents per front foot per residence to the city clerk or the service director in the city hall.

The cost of oiling alleys is set at three cents per foot per residence. Narrow alleys, eight feet or less, will be oiled at two cents per foot per residence.

Printing Press Will Be Sent

Daily Telegraph Will Receive Goss Press

COLUMBIANA — Morris Friedman of the Friedman Transfer & Construction Co., Youngstown, has four carpenters at work boxing for shipment to Madras, India, the huge Goss printing press belonging to the Lyle Printing Co. of Salem, which has been stored for 10 years in the warehouse of the Columbiana Milling & Supply Co. on S. Main St.

Mr. Friedman has until July 25 to get ready for shipment to New York the many sections of the press, which will take not less than three and perhaps four cars. The press is being shipped to the Daily Telegraph.

Many separate units are involved in the intricate construction of the press, which was used in printing nationally known publications before it was transferred here by truck from the vicinity of New York on the ground and has already transferred from the warehouse to the nearby freight yard three of the boxes measuring 11x4x4 1/2 feet and weighing a couple of tons each.

There will be 18 smaller boxes measuring 10 feet by 20x20 inches and some much larger than those already in the freight yard. Oak six-by-sixes will be used for the framework of some of the larger boxes, and elm four-by-fours for some of the smaller boxes, which are enclosed by two-inch-thick pine boards. Some of the boxes yet to be made will be 12x5x4 feet. There are 16 rolls to be boxed.

The Friedman Co. loaded for the Enterprise Co. for shipment to the Mannesman Co. of Sault Ste. Marie, makers of drilling machinery, a coupling boring machine which weighed 35,000 pounds. It went out the last of the week, and another will follow this week. The Enterprise Co. previously shipped recently five tapping machines to the same company. Both types of machines were displayed by the company here this month to more than 50 invited representatives of the largest pipe-making companies in the U.S.

THE FRIENDSHIP CLASS of the Methodist Church will have a breakfast in the west end of a covered pavilion in Firestone Park at 9:30 a.m. Thursday, those attending to take table service. The committee is Mrs. Olive Brown, Mrs. Ada Coyle, Mrs. Berta Burkley, Mrs. Beryl Fitzpatrick and Mrs. Mary Griffin.

Gideons of the area will meet at the home of Harry Cline, E. Park Ave. Ext., at 8 p.m. today. The Women's Association of the Presbyterian Church has scheduled a luncheon for women of the church and their guests at the church at 1 p.m. Thursday. The luncheon will be served by the Miriam Circle. Mrs. John Barker of Canton, president of the Ohio Synodical Society, will speak.

St. Patrick's Catholic Church in Leetonia will be the scene of the wedding Saturday, July 28, of Miss Nancy Jane Adams, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. Walter Adams, 320 W. Park Ave., and Ronald Anthony Champagne, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry J. Champagne of Baton Rouge, La. The Rev. W. W. Maund will officiate in the open church ceremony. Invitations will be issued for a reception to follow.

Mr. Adams, father of the prospective bride, is manager of the Kaiser Aluminum & Chemical Co.'s plant here, having moved to Columbiana last year from San Jose, Calif. Miss Adams spent her senior year as a student in Columbiana High School and was graduated in May. Mr. Champagne, graduate of a Baton Rouge high school, is serving in the Air Force, stationed at Lackland Air Force Base, San Antonio, Texas.

The King's Daughters' class will have a birthday dinner in Grace Evangelical and Reformed church

24 Westinghouse Workers Suspended

COLUMBUS, Ohio — Fresh incidents on the refrigeration production line Monday resulted in indefinite suspensions for 24 first shift workers at the Columbus Westinghouse plant.

A company spokesman said nine of the workers were suspended in connection with the defacing of 20 refrigerator cabinets and 15 for "refusing to work."

The incidents followed a return to work Monday of 2,688 first and second shift workers sent home last Thursday in a company lay-off after 2 first shift workers on the refrigerator lines stopped work in protest over new work quotas.

The spokesman said none of those suspended Monday was involved in last week's work stoppage. There were no incidents involving workers in the second shift, the spokesman added.

Charles Clark, president of Local 746, International Union of Electrical Workers, said he has asked the company for more information on its suspension order.

Mr. and Mrs. William Outland, Mrs. Gladys Satterthwaite and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Morlan of Damascus visited in Washington, D.C. The Outlands and Miss Satterthwaite also visited in North Carolina.

$635 Million Voted For Flood Control

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Senate House Conference Committee today announced agreement on a bill carrying $635,012,500 for flood control, navigation and power projects.

The money will be for use of the Army Engineers in the year starting July 1.

This represents a compromise between $642,736,000 voted by the Senate and $582,811,000 approved by the House. President Eisenhower had recommended $582,377,000. Last year Congress voted $616,326,000 for such work.

The compromise bill will not become final until both House and Senate agree to it. Such agreement was expected today or Tuesday.

The Ohio projects included in the bill are:

Ashtabula Harbor $1,800,000; Cleveland Harbor $1,700,000; Dillon Dam, $1,500,000; Muskingum River Reservoirs $425,000; New Cumberland Lock and Dam $8,000,000; Toledo Harbor $380,000.

Changes which the compromise bill makes in specific items as passed by the Senate include (compromise figure given first, with Senate figure given in parentheses):

Construction
Kentucky — Lock and Dam 41 $750,000 ($1,000,000).

West Virginia — Hildebrand Lock and Dam $2,750,000 ($3,500,000).

Planning
Kentucky — New Richmond Lock and Dam $125,000; ($150,000); Noilin Reservoir $100,000 ($150,000).

3 Students Die During Rioting

Guatemala Police Also Wound 19

GUATEMALA (AP)—Police firing submachineguns and pistols to break up a demonstration against the government's crackdown on Red agitation killed three university students and wounded 19 Monday night on Guatemala's city's main street.

The victims were in a parade of several hundred students marching toward the government palace to protest curtailment of civil liberties under the "state of alarm" imposed Sunday by President Carlos Castillo Armas' regime.

About half the marchers were girls. One girl was wounded. So was a policeman.

The state of alarm put Guatemala under a form of martial law. The government said it was necessary to prevent "seditious disorders" plotted by Communists.

Soon after Monday night's shooting, the government ordered censorship of news dispatches sent abroad.

The students marched defiantly from a meeting at the university. Officials had sent them a warning message that they would be "swept from the streets" if they attempted to stage a protest.

A witness said a detachment of about 20 policemen, drawn up across the avenue outside a movie theater, ordered the marchers to halt.

"The police fired into the air," the witness reported. "The students kept coming, singing the national anthem."

"Police then started firing into the marchers, while police reinforcements rushed up. Some police were firing pistols, others submachineguns."

"As soon as the firing started, the students ran to doorways and behind parked cars."

"Two squads of police walked to a group of students on 11th Street between 6th Avenue and an alley, firing on them from both sides. Some students fell, some held up their hands and were captured. I saw six boys fall."

There have been repeated disturbances in Guatemala since Castillo Armas overthrew the Communist-supported government of Jacobo Arbenz Guzman in 1954. The President has blamed them on underground Communists he claims are receiving foreign aid.

Supporters of Castillo Armas said persons who lost official positions when Arbenz was overthrown and leftist intellectuals are helping the antigovernment agitators.

State Describes Slaying Victim

CLEVELAND (AP)—The state renewed today its detailed description of the nearly nude body of 18-year-old Gloria Ann Ferry, as the first degree murder trial of Louis C. Statler, 69, went into its second day.

Prosecutors said their next point would be to establish how long the girl's partly decomposed body, clad in hose, panties and brassiere, had lain in a ravine.

"Statler, a street cleaner from Altoona, Pa., is charged with throttling the girl last fall. She had been a housekeeper for him in Altoona, and was scheduled to testify against him on a charge of contributing to her delinquency. The state claims he took her away from Altoona for the purpose of getting her out of the way."

As the trial opened Monday before three common pleas judges, Jacob Baciak, 64, told of finding the corpse while hunting mushrooms. Corp. Francis G. McGuire of the Pennsylvania State Police, verified the girl's identity, referring to fingerprints and a photograph made when she was taken to Blair County Jail on a delinquency charge involving Statler.

Bliss Says Governor Seeks To Grab Ike's Coattails

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Gov. Frank J. Lausche's hint that he might help Republicans organize the U.S. Senate if he were elected to that body has set off a barrage of criticism from Ohio GOP leaders.

"Ray Bliss, chairman of the Republican State Committee, said Monday Lausche is 'frantically attempting to grab on to President Eisenhower's coattails.'"

He referred to Lausche's statement at the governors conference in Atlantic City that he does not know whether he would vote with the Democrats to organize the U.S. Senate if he is elected to that body next November.

The statement raised the possibility that Lausche might help the Republicans organize the Senate and tended to undermine one of the chief campaign arguments of Lausche's Republican opponent, Sen. George H. Bender.

"His statement was a typical, double-meaning Lausche statement," said Bliss. "He doesn't say he will and he doesn't say he won't. He has used the same technique before."

Bliss continued: "When Sen. Burton resigned from the U.S.

The longest, lowest, most powerful Lincoln ever

Lincoln Premier 4-door sedan; 223 inches of incomparable luxury, with Turbo-Drive, power steering, power brakes, and 4-way power seat as standard equipment.

It says what no man can say about himself—and says it so eloquently. For example, Lincoln says he's a man of discriminating tastes—a man who prefers the simple unpretentious beauty of the only completely new fine car. It says he's a man who likes action—the quick, sure action of Lincoln's great power combination—new 285-hp V-8 engine and Turbo-Drive, smoothest, most versatile of all automatic transmissions. Finally, driving a Lincoln marks him as a man who enjoys success. If you haven't driven this most popular of all Lincolns, do so soon—for this is unmistakably the finest in the fine car field.

For The 20th Century

Completion of legislative work on a new federal highway program in Washington will assure its start early in July. It will be much later before the meaning of the program is widely understood.

This is a plan to build a federal highway system apart from the federal market-road system and the primary system now receiving federal aid. They will both be secondary to the new system, properly designated as the interstate highway system.

Why has this been done?

Because the 40,000-odd miles of highway in the new interstate system serve 65 per cent of the urban population and half the rural population.

The system contains only 1.2 per cent of the country's highway mileage, but it carries upward of 15 per cent of the country's highway traffic. Its roads are the main arteries of highway use. The other parts of the highway network, ranging from roads that will be the backbone of the state systems (which ultimately will include everything outside the interstate system) down to township roads, are of secondary importance to the federal government.

Until this new arrangement is grasped, the federal highway act of 1956, when it is approved by President Eisenhower, will not be easy to understand. It is the largest public works law ever prepared - 33 billion dollars in the next 16 years - better than two billion dollars a year. But its purpose is not to build highways aimlessly; there is a highly-selective program of improvements already mapped, to give the United States 40,000 miles of key highways suitable for the second half of the 20th century before its final 25 years.

Steel's Five-Year Plan

A few days before major contracts between unions and management run out in the steel industry is no time to dream about turning back the clock, but . . .

Who would have dreamed of such a thing in steel in the 1930's as a five-year contract with a guaranteed raise each year being offered by management and being turned down by union negotiators?

If that is turning back the clock too far, who would have dreamed in the 1940's, before the United States got into World War II or when the war was over, that steel producers would be so confident of the long-term future that they would tie themselves to a five-year commitment?

Regardless of what is being fired back and forth between negotiators for management and unionists in the steel industry, the offer of a five-year contract with annual benefits each year is a milestone on the uphill road of industrial contract-making.

There are many issues being discussed, and some may seem more important than the major issue opened by the offer of the three largest steel companies to enter into a five-year contract.

Would steel workers gain more by five years of contract stability with guaranteed annual improvements, or by five years of catch-as-catch-can bargaining with nothing guaranteed but tension and the possibility of work stoppages?

Administrative Government

Looking on the bright side can go too far in the case of President Eisenhower's second enforced absence from his desk in nine months. But no one could be blamed for noting that his two absences have revealed something about the presidency.

It is not necessarily a one-man-rule position. The United States is having its first experience with the administrative government that is the alternative to the strong personal government that became the trademark of the Roosevelt administration.

Dwight Eisenhower's theory as a presidential candidate in 1952 was that the White House should be organized like a military staff - a chain of coordinated command, not a single commander with sole responsibility. To that end, he called into his administration a group of unusually strong citizens who would be expected to assert themselves under his over-all authority.

Twice, this idea has paid off dramatically when the President was shelved by illness. It has been years since anyone has used the word "dictatorial" to describe the U.S. presidency or worried because the occupant of the White House had too much power. Without a chance to see how administrative government can work, most Americans would have known nothing about the thing that will be Dwight Eisenhower's most important contribution to the American presidency.

The people who are always complaining that they don't get everything that's coming to them should stop to think that maybe they're lucky.

Defense and Politics

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Congress Making Mess of Arms Program

Irresponsibility in government has rarely been more acutely emphasized than today in the behavior of Congress toward the executive in the matter of national defense.

Lawrence

Theoretically the Joint Chiefs of Staff recommend to the president what strategic plans they have in mind to defend the nation and what money is needed to buy weapons and military power to carry out those plans in the event of war.

The recommendations of the Joint Chiefs went to Congress early this year. If the Joint Chiefs didn't think the budget was adequate they should have said so in public and offered their resignations. But they accepted the lump sum of about 35 billion dollars. Then for reasons not always clear to the outside world members of Congress, as always, began to ferret out privately from subordinate officers and former officers various pieces of information to use in confronting the Joint Chiefs in hearings before the committees.

What chief of a military force doesn't want more money? So when asked if he could use more, he usually says he can if Congress wishes to appropriate the extra funds.

THEN COMES the politics. Anxious to develop a political issue, the Democrats loudly proclaim that national defense has been neglected by the Republican administration. Proposals are then made to increase the appropriations. Republican senators knowing the pressures to which they may be subjected back home and not to be outdone by their political rivals promptly announce they, too, will vote for increased appropriations.

Broadly speaking it is the constitutional responsibility of Congress to provide for the national defense. But in times of complexity such as today when weapons and their use are a matter of technical argument based on confidential information of all kinds, either the Joint Chiefs of Staff and the executive must be trusted to say what is or is not adequate or else all military planning is relegated to laymen sitting as members of congressional committees.

The taxpayers of America are entitled to all the facts as to how and why Congress is pressured into spending more money than the executive has requested. Is there an invisible system of communication between some subordinate members of the military service and members of Congress and are some civilians with perhaps a material interest in it all involved in any way?

PLAINLY the existing system is wrong. The British parliamentary setup requires the executive and legislative branches to take joint responsibility before the people and if the electorate loses confidence in the existing regime it can at any moment turn the ruling group out of power.

In America the Democratic party as a result of the tragic mistake of the electorate in November 1954 is in control of the legislative branch while the White House is in the hands of the Republican party.

Meanwhile national defense is exploited as a political issue and neither party ventures to face up to the fundamental issue which is that if more of the taxpayer's money is really available for armament it ought to be spent for conventional arms and manpower.

It is certain today that Russia will never use atomic weapons unless attacked with these weapons and that the Western Allies today by putting all their eggs in one basket are planning only for a nuclear war.

THE SOVIETS have more than 10 million soldiers under arms, a big navy of submarines and excellent defensive airpower. Yet America is ignoring the potentialities of amphibious and land warfare in a non-nuclear conflict even though, as recently as the Korean war experience, atomic weapons and intercontinental bombers were not used and land forces were dominant.

The real difficulty today is in the failure of the American governmental system to fix the responsibility for handling the problem of national defense. Congress holds the purse strings but it is also interfering in the planning. It is actually questioning the judgment of the Joint Chiefs and giving them more money than they asked for without surveying the whole problem of what is happening in western Europe to weaken NATO and to give the Communists the edge on land warfare.

When Secretary Wilson, indiscreetly perhaps, said the other day that the fight over money looked to him like a "phony" issue he was understating the case. For the illusion prevails on Capitol Hill that a certain amount of money spent for intercontinental bombers will save the situation. It's not one weapon but a combination of all kinds of forces that must be provided.

THE HORRIBLE FACTS are, moreover, that Soviet Russia - knowing that atomic weapons and hydrogen bombs will not be used by her own military forces and hence the Allied nations would not use them either - can sweep down on western Europe and gobble up the continent. Since there are no conventional armies there large enough to stand up against the Red armies, western Europe is at the mercy of the Communists.

Britain, France, West Germany and the United States are putting all their bets on the "new look" - atomic warfare strategy - while the Kremlin knows that it need only to make sure nuclear war is banned and the Soviet dominates the military situation. Moscow can then intimidate France and Italy into submission without firing a shot.

Neither Britain nor America are today militarily able to deter a land war in Europe. It's the 1930's all over again.

'Bullish' On Movies

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) - Multimillionaire Cornelius Vanderbilt Whitney may not be America's number one movie fan-but he rates high on the list.

"You always go back to your first love," he said, while discussing his active re-entry into the field of movie-making.

As president of his own independent corporation, Whitney has outlined an ambitious production program that will keep him busy for years. He is bullish on the long-term future of motion pictures, despite the heavy inroads made by television.

"The box office is going downhill, but I feel that is a temporary thing," he said. "What is needed? More quality pictures and special attractions that will draw people away from their TV screens."

"The major studios have a real problem in trying to turn out 40 to 60 pictures of the quality that today's public demands. I know I couldn't do it. There isn't that much talent available."

The Whitney bankroll has played quite a role in the movie world in the past. He helped finance technicolor, cinerama, and half a dozen notable David Seidman pictures, including "Gone With the Wind." Whitney still retains a one-eighth interest in this highest grossing film of all time. Whitney, descended from Eli Whitney, inventor of the cotton gin, is a man with many interests. He flew as a pilot in the first World War, and served as a colonel overseas in the second.

His business interests have ranged from mining to airlines. He was one of the nation's top polo players at 57 still enjoys an active game of tennis. He likes to paint and fish. He owns one of America's best known racing stables. He is a director of the Metropolitan Opera and the American Museum of Natural History. He authored a book of his war experiences called "The Lone and Level Sands."

Labor's Future Course

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

One of the most serious problems facing the united AFL-CIO is whether it is to go the American Federation of Labor road or the middle-of-the-road way will be found.

The election of George Meany to the presidency of the AFL-CIO gave the impression that the American Federation of Labor concept would prevail, which would mean that American organized labor would be anti-Communist not only in the United States but throughout the world and particularly in international labor organizations.

THE 20TH CONGRESS of the Communist party of Soviet Russia has made a considerable difference in attitude among labor leaders, even anti-Communist labor leaders. This congress was a major propaganda effort designed to weaken resistance to Russia on the part of socialists, liberals and labor leaders throughout the world.

Too many persons are weary of the constant quarrels inside the labor movement between those who are pro-Communist and those who are anti-Communist and those who stand in between and do not know where to go. Therefore, they have been willing to accept Khrushchev's anti-Stalinism, if not as a sincere statement, at any rate as one that serves their purpose.

Some may wonder why it took Khrushchev so long to discover the evils of Stalin, but the general attitude is that it is better to let the record stand as Salin was no good and Khrushchev said it.

THE RESULT in the AFL-CIO is that there is some criticism of George Meany's intense and forthright pro-Americanism and anti-

Communism and there is some leaning toward Walter Reuther's socialistic attitude which is more conciliatory.

For instance, a letter from George Meany to K. Prasas Tripathi, general secretary of the Indian National Trade Union Congress, has been widely distributed in American labor circles. This letter contains the following paragraph:

"Brother Tripathi, I hope that you now realize how ill-advised you were to condemn my appeal to liberals, like Prime Minister Nehru, to take the lead in the struggle against communism."

"You know better than I do that the Soviet despots Khrushchev and Bulganin flagrantly violated elementary international ethics and abused the hospitality of your country when they exploited its Parliament as a platform from which to vilify the very democratic forces which have been and continue to be most helpful to the people of India in their splendid efforts to build a strong and prosperous democracy—a democracy which will be a great source of hope and freedom throughout Asia."

THIS WAS WRITTEN before Khrushchev's attack on Stalin, it is a correct position and nothing has happened to require changing a word of it. Nevertheless, Mr. Reuther went to India, praised everything he saw and heard and came away with flowers in his hair.

Mr. Reuther is regarded in the labor world as planning to be George Meany's successor and not in the too distant future. Mr. Meany also said in this letter:

"The friendship of the American people for the people of India has never been late or little. The democratic approach I have suggested for resolving controversies in our ranks is vital to the continued growth of this friendship between your country and mine. It is also essential to the unity and effectiveness of the international free trade union movement."

It is gratifying to find a labor leader who will stand up for the United States when it is attacked and who has the courage to show to other peoples a united front with other Americans.

TO MANY of those who go abroad feel that the way to make friends is to praise them even when they vilify our country. Some crave popularity by over-emphasizing American short-comings among other peoples who already have doubts about us.

George Meany, president of AFL-CIO, has not taken that position. In his letter to the Indian labor leader, he painted Khrushchev and Bulganin as the bogymen they are and he spoke of his own country as a patriotic American should.

The essence of this situation is the existence of the World Federation of Trade Unions which is Communist-dominated. The pull now is in the direction of the American unions joining this body.

With due respect to artists and artisans who know how to make human flesh creep and hearts pound, summer electrical storms never have been given the attention they deserve.

This year of cow-washers and tree-splitters has produced new dimensions of terror. The weather has been so unrelentingly horrible that storms which would be standstills in ordinary years are being thought of as routine in 1956.

It is obvious from the number of service interruptions that electric power companies are going through a summer to remember. The men from Mars who are always going to be theoretically fascinated by life here on earth would want to go home in a hurry if they had the bad luck to be here while an electrical storm was spending its fury.

Fear of the unknown is combined with fear of the unseeable and the unpredictable during these storms. Nowhere and at no time do men feel so small and helpless as when lightning flashes are shattering trees and buildings without warning and without reason, while thunderclaps are shattering eardrums and gales are threatening to wreck everything left standing by the bombardment.

While this is going on, rain comes down in sheets and torrents, using hail as tracer bullets. To those who have grown accustomed to the horror, it is an experience to be endured philosophically, sustained by the thought it probably will not be fatal.

Those who do not know this, or cannot muster the philosophy to endure it stoically, never learn to endure an electrical storm calmly. Each new storm is a new emergency - a fresh disaster. They cannot get accustomed to great trees being splintered by one bolt of lightning and the possibility that the next one may do likewise to them. The reverberations of thunder are an accompaniment to disaster, not an auditory phenomenon to be observed with detached interest.

In our little household, everybody finally has turned philosophical, except the No. 2 dog - the male Irish setter. There is not a trace of stoicism in him, from stem to stern. He shakes until his teeth and joints rattle, starting with the first rumble of distant thunder.

He craves human comfort, preferably with his pointed head tucked under a sheltering arm. His eyes roll and his tongue hangs down to his knees. As the going gets rougher, even human comfort is not enough. He seeks a place to wait for death, preferably a shower bath with the curtains drawn, the far corner of the fruit cellar, or a clothes closet where he can hold his paws over his head while concealed by a shroud of overhanging fabric.

No amount of comfort can persuade him that anything less than the worst is in store for him and the other inmates of the place. Yet the only difference between him and them is that the setter yields to the sense of panic that all creatures feel during an electrical storm - the most awesome, the most prolonged and the most soul-trying experience weather has on tap to test the right of life to survive in a place where trespassers still are not welcome.

A woman of 90 says that age is a mental condition. Until those aches and pains start getting you.

The News invites letters from readers on all important current subjects. The letters should be brief, not to exceed 300 words and must bear the signature and address of the writer to insure publication. Letters with anonymous signatures will not be published.

Other Medical Cases

Averell Harriman: Galloping Inactivity, with indications of Franklin Fever. Symptoms: Feverish behavior despite patient's insistence he is lackadaisical and disinterested; victim indicates he is drowsy, but acts like a runaway rocket in outer space. Craves speaking engagements. Suffers from a recurrent dream he is sleeping in Lincoln's bed. Highly agitated by sound of a tootin. Shows signs of intestinal disturbances due to banquet lamb chops, interstate salads and transcontinental desserts. Talks in sleep and constantly mentions Roosevelt ad De Sapio. Crisis probably in August.

Adlai Stevenson: Potomac Itch, complicated by Hellenitis, a disease of the ambitious glands. Hereditary on grandfather's side. Patient becomes extremely restless, agitated and highly emotional at mention of White House and has double vision passing the goal line. Lacks appetite but will eat anything served at a political dinner or rally. Has a funnybone enlargement, conducive to advance Wisecrackitis. Outstanding symptom is fast-spreading smile and a tendency to repeat, awake or asleep, such words as "That reminds me of the story, etc." "I hope you have not heard this one," and "As Mark Twain observed many years ago." Recovery doubtful.

Estes Kefauver: Crockett's Fever. Believed to be caused by exposure to raccoon hide or fur. Victim, ordinarily calm, composed, restrained and gracious, suddenly becomes violent, vehement and aggressive. Loses head in southern and far western temperatures. Shows symptoms of maledy known as the Blue Room Eye. Develops disturbing enlargement of both hands, due to extensive handshaking and is apt to have fallen arches as result of wide travel.

Mr. Stassen: Inflammatory Availability. Keeps poised and seems indifferent to events, but eyebrows flutter rapidly and pulse quickens in vicinity of White House. Has passion for TV interviews. Uneasy when not in motion.

Earl Warren: Acute Escapitis. Shows determination to avoid turmoil and displays shyness at approach of politicians. Is happiest in high altitudes and is easily alarmed by offers which used to give him pleasure and comfort. Once had Potomacitis but seems to have recovered completely.

Diek Nixon: Pinchhitters' Fever, a malady dangerous in early life and hard to cure. May be inoperable. Symptoms: A tendency to slide when he can reach the base standing up; passion for rostrums and difficulty sleeping nights because of what he thinks about during the day.

They exchanged their vows before the altar in the Alliance First Evangelical and Reformed Church at 7 p.m. Saturday.

White carnations, palms and white candles decorated the chancel. A program of music preceded the ceremony played by the church organist, Mrs. Herbert Gorbey.

Given in marriage by her brother, Leonard Zimpleman of Salem, the bride wore a floor-length dress of nylon and lace styled with a fitted bodice that had a heart-shaped neckline and long pointed sleeves. The skirt was formed in ruffles. Her finger-tip length veil was caught into a crown of pearls and rhinestones. Her sterling silver necklace and earrings, studded with diamonds, were a gift of the bridegroom. She carried a white Bible on which rested a white orchid.

Miss Frances Zimpleman was her sister's maid of honor in a pale blue nylon ballerina-length dress. She wore a matching bandeau in her hair and carried red carnations.

The four bridesmaids were: Mrs. William Everett, sister of the bride, in pale green nylon, carrying yellow carnations; Mrs. Fred Weibel, sister of the bride, in yellow nylon, carrying white carnations; Miss Dorothy McCully of Cleveland, also in yellow, and Mrs. William Dougan, in pale green. All the dresses were designed alike in ballerina length.

Karen Everett and Susan Zimpleman, nieces of the bride, were her flower girls. They wore white nylon frocks and carried baskets of rose petals.

Charles Clemons of Barberton served as best man for the bridegroom. His ushers were the bride's two brothers, Carl and Don Zimpleman.

Mrs. Cecil W. Greene

leman, and two brothers-in-law, William Everett and Fred Weibel. Timotny King, a cousin of the bride, served as ring bearer.

Mrs. Zimpleman chose to wear a dusty rose shade dress for her daughter's wedding. Her accessories were in white, and she wore a white rosebud corsage.

A reception for more than 300 guests followed in the Verhovay Hall. Out of town people attended from Youngstown, Canton, Akron, Salem, and Cleveland.

Refreshments were in charge of two aunts of the bride, Mrs. I. L. Grindle and Mrs. Gilbert Laquet, and included a three-tiered wedding cake. Assisting them were their husbands and the bride's uncle, John Barlett.

Dancing was enjoyed to music furnished by Vic Rogers and his orchestra.

The newlyweds left Sunday for Alabama from where they will go to the Air Force Base in Fordland, Mo., where the bridegroom will report for duty next Monday. He is a jet pilot and has 18 months to serve to complete his enlistment. He formerly was with the Babcock & Wilcox Research Center in Alliance.

Mr., Mrs. Pasquale S. Faini On Honeymoon Trip To Florida

Enroute to Miami Beach, Fla., on their wedding trip are Mr. and Mrs. Pasquale S. Faini who were married Saturday morning at St. Anthony Church, Youngstown. The nuptial Mass was celebrated at 10 a.m. Rev. Peter J. Faini, the bridegroom's brother, officiated.

The bride, the former Phyllis Ann Guido, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John B. Guido of Youngstown, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. August Faini of E. 5th St.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of brocade and nylon tulle designed with a sabrina neckline, molded bodice, shirt sleeves and long mitts. The bouffant skirt with brocade lace trim was slipper length.

Her fingertip illusion veil was attached to a matching pillbox headpiece. She carried a white prayer book with a white orchid encircled with Stephanotis and showered with ivy.

A cousin of the bride, Miss Arlene Guido, was maid of honor. The bridesmaids were Miss Kathryn Forde and Miss Donna Baker. The maid of honor's dress was of seaford green and the bridesmaids were petal pink.

Each gown was styled with a bow at the neck of the molded bodice, full circular skirt of ballerina length and matching headpiece. They carried colonial bouquets of roses with streamers.

Lenore Marginian, niece of the bride, was flower girl. She wore white nylon tulle over taffeta with a pink taffeta bow and sash and an open crown daisy cloche. Her miniature colonial bouquet was of pink and white daisies.

August John Faini, nephew of the bridegroom, was ring bearer. Vita A. Faini, was his brother's best man. He flew home from Weisbaden, Germany for the wedding. Lawrence Guapone, the bridegroom's cousin, and Patrick Gaffagan of Illinois ushered.

Mrs. Guido, the bride's mother, was attired in a lace gown of shell pink with pink and white accessories and an orchid corsage. Mrs. Faini was dressed in light rose with white accessories and an orchid corsage.

Immediately after the ceremony, a wedding breakfast was held at the home of the bride's parents, which was decorated with sum-

Stork Shower Honors Mrs. Richard McCartney

A stork shower was held Friday night at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Perry Huffman of Vine St. honoring their daughter, Mrs. Richard McCartney.

Friends and relatives from Alliance, Youngstown, Greenford and Salem brought the honoree gifts. Lunch was served by the hostess, who was assisted by Mrs. David Huffman, Mrs. Paul Huffman, Mrs. Myron Charlton and Mrs. Richard Martin.

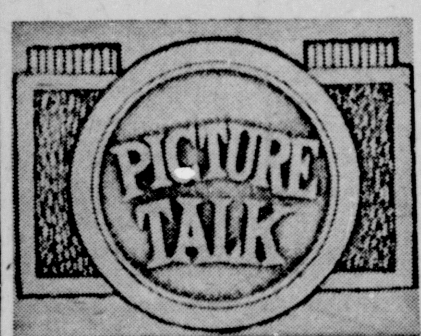

Pink and blue prevailed in the table appointments. Baby buggy stencils decorated the ice cream, and favors were diaper-shaped mint cups.

ATTEND CONVENTION
Rev. and Mrs. E. M. Parks and Alvin Barton attended the 14th quadrennial general assembly of the Church of the Nazarene recently ended in Kansas City, Mo.

Mrs. Parks was a delegate, and Barton is a member of the church convention.

Rev. Samuel Young who was re-elected general superintendent was at one time pastor of the Salem Church of the Nazarene.

The church will observe its denominational golden anniversary in 1958.

It's vacation time again — the two, three, or four weeks you've been looking forward to all year. Maybe you're planning only a few day-long outings with the family. Maybe you're driving across country. Maybe you're taking a plane to Europe. Whatever your plans, include your camera in.

These are precious days which you'll want to remember. Naturally, they'll be most colorfully recorded in color slides, most vividly in color stereo. But there will also be mementos you will treasure in black - and - white snapshots.

Just a few tips: Keep your camera loaded at all times; keep a supply of flashbulbs on hand for those dim-light or after-dark pictures which add so much to the story. If you're traveling by car, don't store your camera on the back shelf or in the glove compartment. Excessive heat can seriously damage film. Protect it from the dust, sand, and the salt spray at the seashore. But DO keep it close at hand. Make a complete picture record of your vacation, and your vacation need never end. Whenever fancy strikes, you can whip out your album projector and there is your vacation story, ready to be relived just as it happened.

New Pension Bill Pushed

Would Give Veterans $90 A Month At 65

WASHINGTON (AP)—Leaders in the pensions-for-veterans drive brought out a new, one-half cost proposal today as the House headed into an anything-can-happen battle over a bill that could annually cost billions of dollars.

Rep. Edmondson (D-Okla.) said the American Legion and Veterans of Foreign Wars will back a $90-a-month pension instead of the $105 version originally approved by the House Veterans Committee.

This, plus other agreed-on cuts in the committee bill, would chop first-year costs to little more than two thirds of a billion dollars. Without this the administration estimates the first year's tab at 1 1/4 billions and a total of 148 billions by the year 2000.

The last-minute switch reflected leaders' opinions that even in an election year the bigger bill hadn't a chance of becoming law.

Chairman Olin E. Teague (D-Tex.), with the support of Speaker Rayburn (D-Tex.), pushed a rival plan aimed mainly at helping seriously disabled veterans. Providing less pension liberalization, it would cost about 200 million dollars the first year.

House Republicans caucused Monday and decided each member would be free to vote as he pleased on the politically hot issue.

Some Democratic leaders other than Rayburn were reported favoring "laughing through" the full committee bill on the theory that the Senate or a late-session veto by President Eisenhower would kill it.

Overnight, there had been no word from the White House on the various plans, although it previously expressed strong disapproval of the major parts of the committee bill.

That bill would provide non-service-connected pensions of $105 a month at age 65 for World War I, II, and Korean War veterans whose annual incomes are less than $1,400 if single or $2,700 if with dependents. The rate would be 20 per cent higher for those with at least 30 days overseas service.

It would also raise compensation for service-connected injury generally by 10 to 15 per cent and increase payments to veterans' widows.

The new Legion-VFW plan would make a number of decreases in the committee bill, including dropping the pension to $90 a month and the overseas bonus to 10 per cent.

Teague's version would knock out the pension features except for a 5 per cent premium for overseas service and a raise from $135 to $150 in pensions to veterans seriously disabled. It would retain service-connected disability compensation increases including a rise from $181 to $250 a month in the compensation to the totally disabled.

Under the present limited non-service-connected pension system a veteran can get $66.15 monthly at any age if permanently and totally disabled and if his income falls within the $1,400 and $2,700 ceilings. The rate goes up to $78.75 a month at age 65 or if he has been a pensioner continuously for 10 years.

Fail To Decide How Many Fell From Airliner

SHELBY, N. C. (AP)—A Cleveland County coroner's jury says it is unable to decide how Oren A. Pruitt, a bridegroom of one day, fell 6,500 feet to his death from a Piedmont airliner June 13.

Attorneys for Pruitt's widow said after the 3 1/2 hour hearing Monday night that they planned to file suit against the airline, charging negligence in not posting warning signs near the door.

The 38-year-old Charlotte man and his bride were on their honeymoon to Asheville to visit her parents when he fell from the passenger loading door into a cemetery near here.

Joseph Forest of Charlotte, a passenger on the plane, testified he heard a rush of air and saw Pruitt struggling to stay inside the plane after the door opened.

Forest said he did not see Pruitt open the door and that nobody was near him when he went out the door.

R. C. Murray, a Civil Aeronautics Administration representative, testified he found no violation of CAA regulations and that the door was functioning perfectly when the plane landed.

The plane's flight attendant T. H. Barnes of Winston-Salem said he smelled alcohol on Pruitt's breath.

Mrs. Pruitt denied that her husband was drinking. She said he left his seat to get her a drink of water at the rear of the plane.

Copilot H. A. Schulze testified that the handles of the door would have to be turned for it to be opened. He said it could not have been opened if a man merely leaned or fell against it.

Three Men Indicted For FHA Loan Frauds

CLEVELAND (AP)—Three men from Canton were named in indictments returned Monday by a federal grand jury after an investigation of frauds in obtaining FHA loans.

The company involved was the Harshone Co., Inc. Its president, Harry Schoenberg, 50, and two salesmen, George F. Yeager, 49, and Thomas Smith, 50, were indicted.

James J. Carroll, assistant district attorney, said about $150,000 worth of loans guaranteed by the FHA were involved. An FBI investigation showed, he said, that the company built small cottages financed by loans which were approved only for construction of utility garages.

Federal Buildings To Be Identified

WASHINGTON (AP)—General Services Administration (GSA) today came up with an answer to end what it described as the tourist's or businessman's "bewildering search for a building's name or the identity of its occupants."

It announced approval of a uniform system under which federal buildings will be identified with metal plaques or lettering placed just above eye level near the main entrance.

F. Moran McConihe, commissioner of public buildings, said the system—approved by the Fine Arts Commission—results from a suggestion by Rep. Oliver P. Bolton (R-Ohio).

Bolton protested last April that many persons not familiar with Washington are often lost or puzzled by the lack of identification on federal office buildings. Not only are some buildings nameless, but others are identified only by lettering up near the roof or in some other out of the way place.

McConihe said GSA now is starting a survey to determine which buildings need identification under the new system.

Youth Has To Write Sentence 3,000 Times

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Franklin W. West, 17, has to write "I will never use a Hollywood muffer again" 3,000 times.

The youth, accused of using an illegal muffer on his car, was first sentenced by Magistrate Raymond I. Harris to write the sentence 1,000 times.

West came back with 20 sheets of notepaper but the magistrate discovered it was not all filled in the same handwriting. He tripled the sentence and told West to do the writing in the courtroom.

West admitted two girls helped him the first time because they "felt sorry for me."

Mahoning 4-H Camp Schedule Announced

For the second year a special weekend camp will be held at 4-H Camp Whitewood for older members, 15 to 20 years. Registration will be from 3 to 5 p.m. Friday, July 13. Camp will close with Sunday lunch. Swimming, campfire, vespers, and other activities of special interest to this age group are planned.

Reservation slips signed by parents and 4-H advisors together with the $5 fee are to be in the Mahoning County Agricultural Extension Office at Canfield by July 7.

Tractor Rodeo For 4-H Members Planned

At 1 p.m. Thursday July 5 at the Agnew implement company on Route 7 south of Boardman; Mahoning 4-H Tractor Club members will hold a rodeo.

Safety, skill, smoothness of operation and time required are major factors in grading. The events include pulling a side delivery rake through an obstacle course, backing a 4 wheel trailer and belting up.

The first place winner will represent Mahoning County at the state contest. The second, third and fourth place winners will compete at the Canfield Fair for cash awards.

1955 winners were: first, Myron Wehr; second, Paul Wagner; third, Robert Davis; fourth, Harvey Hartley. 1956 club advisors are E. F. Coleman of Berlin; Paul Good, Boardman, and Myron Agnew, Boardman. Bob Welsh, Mahoning 4-H club assistant, is working out arrangements with the advisors.

5,000-Mile Tests Planned For Missiles

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Air Force has two strategic guided missiles which can be tried out more fully now that the U.S. test range has been extended to stretch 5,000 miles out into the Atlantic.

Such an extension was formally agreed to Monday by the United States and Great Britain. British approval was required because the range starting in Florida skirts several British islands and because the new terminal point is British-controlled Ascension Island.

Ascension lies almost midway between South America and Africa.

The two American missiles are the Snark and Navaho, air-breathing weapons which have been tested at less than maximum range in flights from Patrick Air Force Base on the east coast of Florida.

Both the Snark and Navaho have ranges up to 5,000 miles.

Until the new agreement with Britain, the range extended only about 1,200 miles. Snark has been flown at least once for about 2,000 miles, having been sent southeastward along the range, then turned around and guided back to Florida.

Born in Salem, March 26, 1905, he was the son of Frederick and Lena Whittier Berger. A farmer, he resided in the Negley vicinity 21 years.

Survivors include his wife, Elsie; two sons, Raymond Lee Berger, of New Waterford and Donald Frederick Berger of Negley; a daughter, Jo-Ann of the home; six brothers, Charles, Ernest, and Frank of Salem, Fred of Damascus, Walter of Winona and Russell of Negley; three sisters, Mrs. Mary Bauman and Mrs. Margaret Striffler, both of Salem, and Mrs. Lena Stouffer of Beloit; and three grandchildren.

Services will be held at 2 p.m. Thursday at the Martin Funeral Home in East Liverpool with Rev. T. Victor Scott of the Emmanuel Presbyterian Church there officiating. Burial will be in the Columbiana County Memorial Park Cemetery.

Friends may call at the funeral home Wednesday afternoon and evening.

Judge Dismisses Case Involving Crocker Co.

LISBON — A civil case involving Ray A. Norman of Akron against the Crocker City Ice and Products Co. and Russell T. Herbruck of Akron has been dismissed by Judge Joel H. Sharp in favor of the defendant for failure to appear and lack of prosecution.

Atty. William Moore Jr. advised the court his client, Norman, was physically unable to appear, but no evidence was submitted in his behalf. The Crocker City Ice and Products Co., defendants, asked the case be dismissed for failure to appear and for want of prosecution. Judge Sharp sustained the motion and the case was dismissed with exceptions to the plaintiff and defendant Herbruck who also failed to appear.

U. S. May Have Set Off Nuclear Blast

TOKYO (AP)—The United States may have set off another big nuclear blast today at the Bikini testing grounds, Japan's weather bureau reported.

The Central Meteorological Observatory said its instruments from Hokkaido in the north to Kyushu in the south picked up marked atmospheric pressure changes similar to those recorded after the May 21 test and again on May 28.

(In Washington, an Atomic Energy Commission spokesman said there would be no comment on the report.)

(The spokesman noted the AEC had declined comment on a similar report May 28 and planned none on future reports of the same type.)

(He said that Ad. Lewis Strauss, AEC chairman, had announced previously that "about 10 tests would be carried out in the current series that began May 21.")

First indications of a possible blast were earth tremors recorded on the seismographs at Matsushiro, in central Honshu, at 3:20 a.m. Just three hours later gauges began to pick up the slower-moving atmospheric pressure waves, and these continued for about 50 minutes, the observatory said.

As they had on May 21 and 28, the waves reportedly came from the direction of the Bikini Atoll, about 2,200 miles southeast of Tokyo.

showing their style of peeling off. "Their technique is good," said Twining, "just like ours."

"We asked a lot of questions and they were pretty good about answering them," he said. "They let us take our time, didn't hurry us at all."

British officials making the tour said it was a "valuable closeup," but described it as a "child's guide to the Soviet air force."

When we asked the range of planes we were shown, we were told it was very great," the Britons reported. "When we asked about the speed of a certain plane, we were told very great."

City Council To Hold Special Meeting Tonight

In a special meeting tonight at City Hall, City Council will consider three appropriations bills for a sewer rodding machine, a new police cruiser and electrical equipment.

Following the meeting, Council may meet as a committee-of-the-whole to discuss a new proposal for a north bypass around Salem for the city's arterial highway plan drafted by the Michael Baker Jr. engineering firm of Rochester, Pa.

Only two bids on the sewer rodding machine have been received by the utilities commission. The Trojan Tool Equipment Co. of Chicago, Ill., entered a bid of $4,641.95. The O'Brien Manufacturing Co. of Chicago entered a bid of $1,530.75.

According to Aubrey Hays, utilities director, the lowest bid was for a machine smaller than that in which the city is interested. The bids will be considered by the utilities commission previous to tonight's Council meeting.

Westville Boys Plead Guilty To Illegal Entry

LISBON — Two Westville boys, aged 15 and 16, were given suspended sentences from the Boys Industrial School in Lancaster at a Juvenile Court hearing Monday.

Both pleaded guilty to breaking and entering the Brookside Restaurant on Route 7, about 4 miles south of Rogers.

The youth also admitted taking cigars, candy, chewing gum and soft drinks from the restaurant. Judge Louis Tobin ruled the youth must be at home every night at 6 p.m., and if they go out must be escorted by their parents.

In another case, two juveniles from Lisbon were given warning after they appeared in Juvenile court on a charge of traffic violations.

One 14 year-old East Liverpool boy was turned over to the welfare department after a hearing on the boy's falsifying of his age to obtain a driver's license. Judge Tobin said the boy was turned over to the welfare department because he was unsupervised when his father was working.

Parties Trying To Oust Yanks Win 25 Seats

REYKJAVIK, Iceland (AP)—Two parties that campaigned on a joint platform to get U. S. troops out of Iceland won 25 seats in Sunday's parliamentary elections — two short of the number required to form government. Official returns were issued today.

These parties—the Progressives and the Social Democrats—now face the task of shopping for other partners in an effort to put together a coalition commanding a majority in the 52-seat Althing — Parliament.

Both gained seats in the elections, and so did the Communists, while the pro-American independence Conservative party of Premier Olafur Thors lost ground.

The returns showed the Progressives won 17 seats, a gain of one over their membership in the last Althing. The Social Democrats won 8 seats, compared with their previous total of 6.

The Independence Conservative party's representation dropped from 21 seats to 19.

The Communists moved up from 7 to 8. The National Defense party virtually went out of existence. It was opposed to both the United States and the Soviet Union. The party got no seats at all.

Thors had held power with an uneasy coalition of Conservatives and Progressives. Elections were forced when the Progressives pushed a resolution through the Althing calling for the removal of U. S. troops from the big NATO base at Keflavik.

A battalion of 4,000 U. S. Army, Navy and Air Force men is stationed at the base, manning a listening post for the early warning radar system fronting the Soviet Union's northern borders.

Sources here reported Progressive leader Herman Jónasson was ready to try to form a coalition government on the basis that he had not intended to have the Americans completely ousted. These informants said a compromise was in the works to amend the defense treaty. This would call for a reduction in the size of the U. S. force and an elimination of a source of domestic friction by payment of an Iceland duty on all goods imported for use of base personnel, including alcohol and cigarettes.

Rev. Hammerton Takes Over Lisbon Pastorate

LISBON — Rev. Thomas Hammerton will be the new pastor at the Methodist Church here, succeeding Rev. Percy Lomas who has been transferred to Calvary Methodist Church in East Liverpool.

Rev. Hammerton, a graduate of Ohio Wesleyan University and Yale Divinity School, entered the ministry in 1948. Formerly a pastor at Winona for three years, he was at Smithville in Jefferson County for 3 1/2 years before being transferred to Lisbon.

A World War II veteran, Rev. Hammerton is married and has two children, Jerry and Patricia Ann.

The family will move into the Methodist parsonage on W. Washington St. the last of the week.

100 Persons Attend Twilight Beef Meeting

LISBON — Approximately 100 persons attended the Columbiana-Mahoning County Twilight Beef meeting held at the Wilbur Coy farm near Salem on Georgetown Rd., Monday.

Special speakers included Carl Shank, secretary of the Ohio Hereford Association, Arthur Bumpus, president of the Ohio Hereford Association and Arnold Olson, manager of the Rutledge Herford Farm near New Philadelphia.

The program was in charge of E. C. Holloway, chairman of the county beef committee.

Four Drivers Fined Total Of $80 Here

Four drivers were fined a total of $80 and costs for traffic violations by Mayor Dean B. Cranmer today.

Fined were: Bruce L. Kuntzman, 21 of RD 3, $15 for failure to stop within an assured clear distance; Eugene J. Pisella, 41 of New Castle Pa., $25 for overload; William R. Weikart, 31 of Washingtonville, $25 for overload and Albert A. Kelm, 26 of Charn, Ohio, $15 for inadequate truck clearance lights.

Campaign Donation Documents Missing

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Bridges (R-NH) said today the House should "determine if important statements of campaign contributions have been destroyed."

Bridges, chairman of the Senate GOP Policy Committee, made the suggestion after House Clerk Ralph R. Roberts said he assumed the documents in question had been "sold as scrap paper."

The documents are a statement of the campaign contributions filed by the treasurer of the Republican National Committee for 1952 and others filed by the Democratic national treasurer for the years 1949-1952.

The Justice Department said the reports are needed in connection with "investigations." One, now under way by a federal grand jury in St. Louis, concerns alleged tax irregularities.

The department said it not only had been unable to obtain the documents from Roberts or from Wayne C. Grover, the national archivist, but couldn't even learn if they still exist. It said responses from both men had "been quite inconclusive."

B47 Crashes, Crew Of Three Is Killed

SALINA, Kan. (AP)—A B47 bomber crashed and burned in a wheat field near Salina today, killing a three-man crew.

The plane, out of Smoky Hill Air Force base here, was returning from a routine training mission when it apparently exploded, military authorities said. Wreckage was scattered a mile.

Names of the dead were withheld pending notification of next of kin. One body and parts of another were found near the crash scene.

Seats Jury In Civil Suit Involving $25,000

LISBON — A jury was seated in a $25,000 civil suit today in Common Pleas Court.

The case involves Edward Hammersmith of New Waterford versus Russell Henry of RD 2, Darlington, Pa.

Hammersmith claims Henry was negligent and an accident resulted when Hammersmith was turning into his drive off County Road 421 about a fourth of a mile west of New Waterford. The accident occurred June 14, 1953.

Henry's car struck Hammersmith's tractor and caused personal injury and damages to both Hammersmith and the tractor.

The jury seated in the trial are: Roy Welch of East Liverpool, Clem Orr and Charles Krause of Wells, Donna Ehrhart, J. R. Moore, H. I. Hine, Edna Rosenberry, Jean Horning, Curtis Vaughan and Edith Mercer of Salem, Hazel Conn, Lisbon, C. Ray Todd of Columbiana. Maye Schukert of Wells is the alternate.

U. S. Jet Fighter Missing Off Japan

CHITOSE, Japan (AP)—A U. S. Air Force jet fighter is missing off northern Japan, in the same area where Russian Mig shot down an American B29 19 months ago.

There was no suggestion so far that the fighter had run into trouble with Soviet aircraft.

The Air Force said the pilot of the F86 Sabre Jet had radioed last shortly after noon that he was off the eastern tip of the northern Japanese island of Hokkaido, some 20 miles from the Russian-held Kurile Islands. He then had about two hours' fuel left.

Milwaukee Beats Phillies 8-5 For 11th Straight Victory

Yankees Blast Athletics 9-3

Nats Hand Tigers 9th Loss In Row

By ED WILKS

The Associated Press

Picking the big guy in Milwaukee's slightly fantastic comeback in the National League pennant chase is like stepping on ants. Tag one and there are two more to take his place. The Braves simply have a new hero every day.

It was catcher Del Crandall's turn Monday night. His squeeze bunt got the winning run home as the Braves scored three in the ninth inning to beat the Philadelphia Phillies 8-5.

That made it 11 in a row for Milwaukee, under Manager Fred Haney. It also retained the Braves' two-game lead as second-place Cincinnati dropped Pittsburgh into fifth place 2-1 and third-place Brooklyn scored two unearned runs to overhaul Chicago's Cubs 3-2.

In the American League, the New York Yankees buried their four-game losing streak under 14 hits, including four home runs, and beat Kansas City 9-3. Washington handed Detroit its ninth straight defeat 5-3 in the only other AL game scheduled.

Since Haney replaced Charlie Grimm 10 days ago, no less than eight Braves have accounted for the winning runs in the 11-game sprint that has led from fifth place to first.

Del Ennis set up Crandall's winning hit Monday night with a three-run homer in the eighth that tied it at 5-all for the Phils. But Logan opened the ninth with a double, went to third on Andy Pafko's bunt and then came flying home on Crandall's laydown. Aaron's sacrifice fly and a single by Thomson got the two extra runs home.

Thomson had 4-for-4, including his 10th homer, and drove in three runs. Mathews also homered, his 12th, as Bob Buhl won his eighth with Warren Spahn pitching the ninth. Stu Miller (3-4) lost it.

The Redlegs stayed in second with their third straight victory, scoring twice in the seventh as Ted Kluszewski hammered his 14th home run and Ray Jablonski hit a sacrifice fly after singles by Frank Robinson and Ed Bailey. Art Fowler won his fifth with a five-hitter. Ron Kline was the loser.

Don Kaiser gave Brooklyn only four hits in his 7 1/3 innings last night, but No. 4 was Junior Gilliam's triple which was sandwiched between two errors and produced the tying and winning run in the eighth. Gilliam's single and Pee-wee Reese's double made it 2-1 in the first after Ernie Banks hit his 16th homer with a man on against Carl Erskine in the Cub first. Erskine won with Clem Labine's help.

Rookie Norm Siebern homered twice for the Yanks, who also had homers from Hank Bauer and Joe Collins as Johnny Kucks won his 10th with a nine-hitter. Yogi Berra ended an 0-for-23 slump with a ninth-inning double while Mickey Mantle went 4 for 5.

Manager Chuck Dressen sent left-handed hitting Clint Courtney in as a pinchhitter against southpaw Billy Hoelt in the eighth and the stubby Nat catcher smacked his second 1956 home run with a man on for a 4-3 lead.

Eljer Rips Bliss 13-1 In Class F

The Eljer Co. Class F team drubbed Bliss 13-1 last night at Centennial Park. Chuck Brown led the way for Eljer with two home runs and a single. Ralph Ehrhart followed with a home run, a triple and a single, and Fella Catlos and Tim Burchfield had three hits also.

Dave Hunter and Chuck Brown combined to hurl a no hitter for Eljer, with Hunter getting credit for the win. Eric Theiss took the loss for Bliss.

Kupkas, Deming, Marks, Indians To Play Parkers Win In Softball

Tribe Seeks 7th Straight Victory

CLEVELAND (AP)—Manager Al Lopez' explanation for the starting reversal in the form of his Cleveland Indians in the past two weeks is a simple one;

"A team looks dead when it isn't hitting. A team looks alive when it hits. I knew things would improve for us. We've finally got out regular lineup back in the game. Woodling and Rosen were out for a long time. That made a difference."

Third baseman Al Rosen returned from a three-week layoff caused by an injured knee. Outfielder Gene Woodling, who had suffered dizzy spells, was on the disabled list a month and got back 10 days ago.

In nine games from June 10 the Indians won only one, tied one and lost seven. They started their current six-game winning string, their longest victory skein since the 1954 season.

Tonight they tried to extend that streak against the Baltimore Orioles with whom they stand 6-2 for the season to date. Early Wynn (7-4) opposes Oriole righthander Connie Johnson 2-4 who lost a one-hitter to the Chicago White Sox in the last game he hurled.

During its winning string the Tribe has averaged 10 hits a game and collected eight home runs. Outfielder Al Smith has hit safely his last seven times at bat.

For the month of June the Indians upped their puny .239 team batting average by five points. Smith raises his average 13 points to .269, and the two newcomers from the Chicago White Sox, Jim Busby and Chico Carrasquel, increased their averages 15 and 37 points, respectively. Woodling's mark has risen 20 points to .294.

The two leading batters among the regulars, Vic Wertz and Rosen, each improved by five points, with Wertz now hitting .306 and Rosen .288. Only Bob Avila has slumped. He's dropped 23 points to .226, compared with his seven-year career average of .303.

Eagles Down Flodings 11-10 In Class G

The Eagles, playing their best game of the year, downed Flodings 11-10 last night in Class G play at Memorial Park. Flodings came from behind in the sixth to score five runs and tie the score 9-9. Eagles broke the tie in the top of the seventh 11-9 and Flodings scored one in the last of the inning and had a rally going, but a line drive set up a double play to end the game and give Eagles the win.

Lau led the winners with three hits and Parlonteri also had three to lead Flodings.

Hepler Wins Canfield 100-Mile Auto Race

Hard-driving Russ Hepler of Clarion, Pa., outlasted 39 other drivers last Saturday afternoon to capture the seventh annual 100-mile new car racing classic at Canfield Speedway before 9,100 fans.

Hepler piloted his 1956 Pontiac into the lead on the 193rd lap and went on to victory. He was timed in one hour, 56 minutes and 55.79 seconds for a new track record.

Ernie Derr of Keokuk, Iowa was second in a 1956 Dodge convertible, Jack Farris of New Paris, O. in a 1956 Chevrolet third, Jimmy Romine of Youngstown, in a 1956 Chevrolet fourth and Jack Harrison of Indianapolis in a 1956 Ford fifth.

That's why used car lots, and of course ours especially, offer such a great opportunity for shopping for a car. There's a large selection of models to choose from in all the price ranges. And unlike women's skirts, which may drop or raise six inches in a year (who knows?) last year's car, or even one several years old, can still be a pretty snappy buggy.

With a car these days, you won't have the resale trouble you would have had if people had accepted one of the zanziest ideas in the automobile business I've ever heard of. Although the Russians nowadays say they invented everything, this car really was invented by a Russian.

His name was Count Schlosky and shortly before the First World War he went chugging around Regent's Park in London, England, in a two-wheel gyroscopic car. The gyroscopic kept the two-wheeled car on the level, and the Count believed the car would save a lot of money because it would be lighter and need a smaller engine for any given speed.

The strangest part of the story is, that after his demonstration the car was never heard of again. Twenty-five years later, just before the Second World War, workmen were excavating for a car factory in Birmingham and there, on the site of a modern auto factory, they found, perfectly preserved, the Count's fabulous and abandoned old car.

Because Cars Are Our Line, the old legends of the business have a peculiar fascination for me. If you have a favorite old story about cars, drop in and see us anytime. We like talking shop, and there's never, of course, any high pressure to buy.

If you are in the market for a good used pick-up, we have a 1955 Chevrolet 1/2-Ton, a one owner, has been well-cared-for. A good dependable buy at only $1095.

Pennant Fever Hits Cincinnati

Redleg Fans Swarm To See Hot Team

By JOE REICHLER
CINCINNATI (U-A) Epidemic is running rampant through normally quiet, staid Cincinnati. It is called pennant fever, which hasn't struck this Midwestern city since 1940.

Rhineland fans, long suffering from second division cramps, are floating on air, living in a dream world, and swarming to the ball park as the rampaging Redlegs are making their first serious assault on the National League flag since 1943. Everywhere in and around Cincinnati, in the streets, in bars, hotels and restaurants, where baseball fans congregate, the talk is the same. They are convinced the Redlegs have as good a chance as any club to finish on top of the heap.

First, there is that imposing array of behemoths like Ted Kluszewski, Wally Post, Gus Bell, Frank Robinson, Ray Jablonski and Ed Bailey who continue to hammer away at what may be a major league home run record. Secondly, there's that brilliant doubleplay combination of shortstop Ray McMillan and second baseman Johnny Temple, a pair that many insist is the real reason why the Reds were in first place for the first time in 16 years.

Thirdly, there is the manager, George (Birdie) Tebbets, an intelligent, articulate and forceful man, who rapidly is becoming recognized as just about the smartest manager in the senior circuit. Finally, there is Gabriel Paul, the general manager, whose shrewd trading has been largely responsible for the change for the good in Cincinnati's baseball fortunes.

Fans who had deserted the Redlegs in recent years are now returning with the spectacular rise of the team. Since Cincinnati draws about 55 per cent of its attendance from out of town, all roads between Cincinnati and nearby towns are jammed when the Reds are in town.

There are excursions from as far south as Tennessee and special trains from Huntington, W. Va. make the trip every Sunday, starting out at 8 a.m. and picking up people en route. As Si Burick, sports editor of the Dayton News put it: "When the Redlegs win, it's not Cincinnati's ball club; it belongs to everybody in the Ohio Valley."

The city's attendance record of 981,443, set in 1939, is in jeopardy. Already, in 37 home games, the Redlegs have drawn 371,715 fans, which represents more than half of the total gate of 693,662 for last season.

Harris's Troubles

Continue Off the Field

DETROIT (U) — Bucky Harris, under fire as manager of the slumping Detroit Tigers, is having troubles off the field, too. After watching his club lose its ninth straight game Monday Harris was driving home when his car was struck by another car. Neither Harris nor the other driver, Claude Thornberry, was hurt and police dismissed both men without charge.

Chitwood Daredevils To Appear In Lisbon

Joie Chitwood and his Congress of Canadian Daredevils will take over the Lisbon Fairgrounds Friday night at 8:15 with their annual auto and motorcycle daredevil show.

The show will include, among the 28 events, precision driving, motorcycle polo, motorcycle pyramid acrobatics, the T-bone crash, auto rollovers and climaxing the show will be the "Cannon act".

Jimmy Curry, Canadian national stock car champion, will be shot from the world's largest cannon in a new convertible and land on a ramp 80 feet away.

Among the new features in the show will be the "Motor-batics" from Montreal featuring a group of motorcycle stuntmen. While riding their cycles the men perform the pyramid. The five man team will attempt hand stands, head stands, somersaults and other acrobatics while riding two and three high.

The two hour event will feature all new 1956 automobiles and motorcycles.

Redlegs Defeat Pirates 2-1; Fowler Wins

PITTSBURGH (U) — The Cincinnati Redlegs had a firmer grip on second place in the National League today after Monday night's 2-1 victory over the Pittsburgh Pirates.

Art Fowler yielded only five hits as he boosted his record to 5-7 after a slow start this year.

The 33-year-old South Carolina product dropped four of his first six games this season before he began to click well on the mound.

It's much like 1955 when Fowler had no wins against four defeats early in the season, then went on to win 11 of his last 17 games.

In Monday's game, he weakened only once, in the second inning when the Pirates punched a single run across on two hits. Fowler held them the rest of the way, walking one man and fanning three.

The Redlegs put together their winning tallies in the seventh, with big first baseman Ted Kluszewski leading off with a game-tying homer, his 14th of the season.

Rookie Frank Robinson cut out a single and reached third on another single by Ed Bailey. Robinson sprinted home with the game-winning run on a centerfield fly by third-sacker Ray Jablonski.

That single Pirate run was produced by a double by Bill Virdon, who scored on a single by Danny Kravitz.

Brooks Lawrence puts his 9-0 record on the line tonight in the second Redleg game of the three planned with Pittsburgh.

17-Year-Old Jockey Is Second Best At Delaware

STANTON, Del. (U) — Apprentice jockey Reggie Root, one of the highest paid 17-year-olds in the country, gets $50 a week for spending money.

Young Reggie, son of 39-year-old jockey Ralph (Buddy) Root, is the second leading rider at Delaware Park with 19 wins to trail veteran Eldon Nelson by just three firsts.

But no matter how many races he wins, his parents won't let him handle the sudden flood of money. All his earnings over $50 a week will be banked.

Gene Freese May Get Call From Uncle Sam

WHEELING, W. Va. (U) — Gene Freese, 22-year-old third baseman for the Pittsburgh Pirates, has been ordered by his local draft board to report July 2 for a pre-induction physical examination at Wheeling.

Freese, who has been with the Pirates for two years, previously was rejected for military service in 1953 for water on a knee.

MAJOR LEAGUE STARS
Pitching
Art Fowler, Redlegs—Won his fifth on a five-hitter, walking one and striking out three, to beat Pirates 2-1.

Hitting
Bobby Thomson, Braves—Had four hits in four trips, including his 10th home run, and drove in three runs as Milwaukee beat Phillies 8-5 for 11th straight victory.

30 BUSINESS OPPORTUNITIES

PRINTING SHOP
FOR SALE—Firmly established printing and label shop. This excellent business located in the heart of industrial northeastern Ohio presents an opportunity for a party wanting a firm start in the printing trade.

This plant has been successfully operated for 90 years by three generations of the same family who pioneered in the gummed label field.

Firm consists of adequate buildings, main building 30'x28', two stories; two Miehle Vertical presses, Model 1250 Miehle, power cutter, complete composition department, bindery, all other necessary equipment and machinery plus many long standing, valuable accounts in the bolt, screw and glass label trade.

The company is in full operation and is being sold as a going business.

This lucrative, highly regarded firm for sale now only because of the death of its owner.

This business will be offered at private sale but to the highest bidder, sealed bids will be received by Alfred L. Fitch, Executor of the Will of C. D. Harris, deceased, at the law offices of Fitch & Kendall, 113 South Broadway, Salem, Ohio, at or before 10:30 A. M. E. S. D. time, Saturday, July 14, 1956 when bids will be opened in the presence of the bidders and at which time bids may be increased and original bids may be received.

The Executor reserves the right to refuse any and all bids.

The successful bidder must deposit cash or certified check in the amount of 10 per cent of the purchase price and balance must be paid within a reasonable time thereafter but in no case more than 30 days after receipt of an abstract showing good, marketable title to the premises.

ALFRED L. FITCH, Executor.

'My War With the Mob'

By VICTOR RIESEL

'Operation Filtration' Is Traced

(Second of a series of 6 articles)

You can fight today's manicured mob better with a sharp account than with sharpshooting police.

The crime cartel inside labor stretches from lush wall-to-wall carpeted offices in midtown Manhattan to ultra-modern, neon lit executives' suites on the west coast.

To unpeel a series of Mr. Victor Riesel Biggs, it has taken some federal agents years to go through as many as 80 fronts — for just a handful of polished mobsters worth millions of dollars.

These men have infiltrated some of the best clubs. They have purchased country clubs of their own. They control skyscrapers, construction and insurance companies, restaurants, night clubs, banks, textile and steel mills, garment firms, trucking companies, transit lines, construction supplies distributors, hotels, juke box companies, stevedoring outfits — even barber shops and luncheonettes. All of this the local and federal police have recorded in intricate records.

LITTLE CAN BE unraveled in the courts—because unlike the old Capone muscle days and the bloody gun and ice pick wars of Lepke and Gurrah, all his is legal.

It may be unethical, immoral and contrary to the quasi-public trust a labor official should pledge himself to when he goes to work for the proletariat, but it is legal—and the boys do love the aura of respectability with which it cloaks them.

The key word among today's mobsters is "respectability"—the standing they've gained in their communities while they operate their criminal cartel behind the scenes. Their dominating fear is neither the police nor the federal investigators nor even the Internal Revenue Service.

They fear most the spotlight of exposure in the press which goes into their communities, their homes and among their families and neighbors.

THEY HATE ME—and the sentiment is mutual—because this is the one powerful weapon I've been able to use in this fight. That's why they hate the press, snarl at its representatives and try to stay out of the limelight by closing the doors of their meetings and excluding reporters.

To amass their fortunes in cash, real estate and other investments, they've used the power of the unions they've seized—often in the same business fields in which they operate. They have become businessmen's "partners" by simply threatening to withhold workers from employers whose projects were racing for deadlines set by contracts with the federal government, big cities and private concerns.

Let's step past the men whose notoriety has hit the press so regularly. They're as familiar to the public as Marilyn Monroe curves.

Let's look at some current incidents cut from the same old pattern.

Let's consider the gimmick used by one George J. Walters, former president of the Pittsburgh Building Trades Council and an official of a bricklayers local there. So prominent a citizen was Walters that he served as chairman of the Pittsburgh Housing Authority and a member of the Steel City's Board of Education.

BROTHER WALTERS, who went to jail, had connections with pipe and building supply firms. If you wanted skilled bricklayers for your construction job, you had to buy blocks from the company which paid him part of its profits. During his trial, it was shown that in two instances he picked up $13,000 and later $14,000. Walters was jailed for 15 months and fined $5,000 for failure to report $35,000 in income which he got on the side from building contractors over a five-year period.

Just a few weeks ago, two bricklayers officials in Pennsylvania were indicted by a Scranton Grand Jury on charges of demanding $4,200 before they unloaded bricks for a contractor building a Signal Corps Depot.

I REPORT THESE two incidents out of hundreds of others because they are typical of the disrespect for decency displayed by this crowd. Walters, trusted by his neighbors, gave all labor a black eye by forcing money out of businessmen although he was labor's representative on important municipal bodies. The Scranton men are penny-ante operators, but this case shows that not even vital government projects are immune from shakedowns.

But the pressure by some union officials on contractors building swiftly needed federal projects doesn't always come from the penny-ante crowd.

There is a hulking fellow now slimming down in the federal pen for another decade or so because he tripped, among other inspirations, to extort a million dollars from the Ebasco Corp., then building tremendous power projects for our atomic and thermonuclear defense program. This shakedown artist is one Evan Dale, chief of the Hodcarriers and Common Laborers union in East St. Louis.

NOT QUITE as imaginative as the pirate in the atomic fields was a set of crooks who were lifted out of the St. Louis construction trades unions by a Federal Grand Jury. There it was shown that businessmen who wanted to bid on government contracts first consulted certain union officials. The contractors had to find out exactly how much the union men's shake-down would be before the bid was put in—otherwise that cost could run as much as $200,000 on a project. This could easily be the difference between profit and bankruptcy.

In fact it was that margin for one heating contractor who dared to bid on government work without the union bosses' permission. This contractor was forced out of business and another firm, in which the labor leaders had a financial interest, was able somehow to get the choice contracts without difficulty.

IN ST. LOUIS, there were such specialists in extortion as Larry Callahan and Paul Hulanah. The first was the boss of the steam fitters local and he wielded terrific political power. The latter was known as the "heavy-listed" business agent of a hod carriers local. Their price was a mere $50,000 each to permit two projects to get underway.

The judge, in sentencing Hulanah to 12 years for violation of the federal anti-racketeering laws, summed it up for all areas plagued all racketeers and extortionists when he said: "You are a menace to this community and the people will sleep better with you away." These are but few of hundreds of such cases. Attorney General Herbert Brownell's Justice Department reports that since it began prosecutions, right after the inauguration in 1953, on to March 31, 1956, 102 convictions on racket charges were secured. All were labor people.

SCORES MORE were indicted but were able to slip through the loopholes of the law. A corny phrase indeed, but through these loopholes pass some of the toughest est officials, right across the threshold to "respectability."

There is a belief across the land that racketeers are restricted solely to the trucking and garment industries and the waterfront. Time has come to go further inland where a handful of goons have run simply worded union charters into immense personal fortunes because those charters gave them the right to assign workers to mass projects.

Once the mobsters, such as Evan Dale, have the power to hand out jobs, they control the lives of tens of thousands of men who swarm in on such construction projects as the Joppa power works. Control of so many workers gives the Evan Dales the influence needed to set up bars, bawdy houses and gambling joints—and the power to order men to patronize their joints. The muscle men see to it that no one gets out of line and patronizes competitors.

The "take" is enormous.

WHEN YOU TRAVEL inland, away from the much biographed eastern rackets, you run into such brazen techniques as union officials charging a nickel a foot to provide labor for digging trenches and laying pipes. There is another group of goons which forced contractors to pay five cents a square foot for permission to excavate land.

An operating engineers union leader forced building contractors to pay eight dollars each time they dug a cellar under a new home—and there were some 40,000 homes put up in this particular area.

Contractors in Missouri were forced to pay "rent" for non-existent equipment supposedly furnished by certain union leaders or companies controlled by them. In some cases the companies were as non-existent as the equipment. If a contractor wanted a receipt for his pay-off, the union leaders obliged with fictitious invoices.

IN ONE CASE, a legitimate concern was forced by a union official to set up a company for the labor leader to use as a cover up for his extortion racket. The legitimate firm was threatened with financial loss if it didn't go along.

Not even food escapes the rackets. Other extortionists operating as union officials charge businessmen in the poultry field two cents a pound for the right to buy and sell chickens.

In a score of communities, these union officials are powerful in the local political organizations. Why not? They always have cash ready for quick donations to needy candidates. So they buy political protection.

THEY MOVE among mayors, police officials, judges, prosecutors, playboys seeking thrills and others who think them fascinating.

It becomes tougher to find and expose the mob. And still tougher to slude their respectable friends who are always saying: "Why pick on those poor persecuted labor men?"—some of whom are their own suburban neighbors by night and move with the toughest criminals by day.

Lausche Opposes Use Of State Surplus To Replace Tax Loss

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Gov. Frank J. Lausche says he hopes none of the state treasury surplus will go toward repaying local governments for a revenue loss.

That loss came recently when court decisions knocked out a state tax on federal securities held by financial institutions.

Lausche Monday took an indirect approach to notify the Legislature of his hope in a letter opposing a proposed two million dollar state appropriation to help finance the 1959 Pan-American Games in Cleveland.

In the letter to Cleveland Councilman Joseph E. Flannery, Lausche said no one can legally make such a commitment except the Legislature. He added there may be some question about the Legislature's constitutional right to spend money for promotion of an athletic competition.

"There is presently talk, which I hope is not translated into a reality, that a part of the surplus will be used instead of compelling the financial institutions to replace the tax to restore the losses of $12,300,000 suffered by local governments through the adverse court decisions," Lausche said.

Bills which will be presented to a special session of the Legislature Thursday noon will propose that the state appropriate enough money to meet local governments' tax losses, then recoup about half that amount through a special tax for two years.

The letter was released by the governor's office during his absence in attending the governors' conference at Atlantic City. Lausche wrote:

"While it is true that if the revenues in the next year continue as they have in the past Ohio will have 80 million dollars in the treasury in excess of the anticipated taxes, there is no question in my mind that while the sum seems liberal, the fixed financial obligations established by the last General Assembly, but delayed in their operative date, will require for fulfillment more than the 80 million dollars."
